FARM

Herbicide Form
Not Too ImportantBy GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The use of herbicides in the granular form has shown wide possibilities with work done at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station. Eleven different pre-emergence herbicides were compared in the liquid and corresponding granular formulation on corn and soybeans. Little or no difference in results are detected following these treatments. Weeds were controlled as well by one formulation as the other, and the effect on the crop was not changed.

Granular formulations of most of the herbicides that are applied pre-emergence on crops in Ohio are now available. Most of the herbicides will cost more in granular form. For example, 2,4-D granular will cost about 50 cents per acre more than the liquid material. The difference in cost of some of the newer herbicides will, however, be greater.

The most feasible time to apply granular herbicides on field crops is at planting time. Planting and herbicide applications can be done in one operation. Uniform application of granules is sometimes hard to obtain. Granular applications cost in the neighborhood of $75 to $100.

Granular herbicides need not be mixed with water. The shuling of water and preparing spray solutions for sprayers is time consuming. Both liquid and granular forms of pre-emergence herbicides will be rather ineffective if applied on dry soil and no rain follows until after the weeds are established. Most weed seeds germinate near the soil surface. Moderate rains are needed for seed germination and subsequent absorption of the herbicide.

IF CONSIDERABLE rain follows within a few days after application, most herbicides, regardless of whether they are applied in granular or liquid form, may be leached down to the germinating crop seed and cause damage. However, neither simazine or atrazine has damaged corn even when applied at rates considerably higher than suggested.

The use of granular formulations of certain herbicides, such as 2, 3-D, reduces the hazard of drift to susceptible crops. However, fine granules that are present may still drift somewhat.

Granular herbicides are more bulky and require more storage space. The size of granules of different herbicides may not be the same. Granular applicators are set to apply the correct amount of granules of each herbicide according to the chart that accompanies the applicator.

Granular herbicides can be seen readily on the soil surface after application, thereby reducing the possibility of row skipping.

The decrease occurred despite sales for 1960 of $753,947,649. T. F. O'Neill, vice chairman, and M. G. O'Neill, president, said. This was a $77,005,516 increase in sales over 1959.

'Belly-Smacker' Urged
During Nuclear Attack

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Adj. Gen. Loren G. Windom says the maneuver known as "belly-smackers" to any youngster who's ever ridden a sled might save lives in event of a nuclear bomb attack. "Just fall on your tummy, or head for the nearest basement when you see the huge flash," is the way Windom expresses it. He recommends either strategy as a civil defense measure that "wouldn't cost a dime."

Cancer Poster

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Faces of the family of an Urbana, Ohio, dairy farmer and his family stand to become among the best known in the nation in the months ahead.

Jack Oelker, his wife Martha and three daughters age 4 to 8 have been selected as "poster family" to dramatize the American Cancer Society's 1961 educational and fund-raising slogan: "Guard your family; fight cancer with a checkup and a check."

Oelker, representing more than one million Americans cured of cancer, and his family will make numerous personal appearances in various parts of the country to help in the drive for funds to finance the society's research and educational undertakings, and service to cancer patients.

The family meanwhile will be portrayed on more than 40 million posters, leaflets, and cards and in window displays throughout the nation.

Oelker learned through a dental checkup 10 years ago that he had cancer of the upper jaw. The tumor was removed by surgery, reconstructive surgery corrected visible traces of the operation, and five years ago he was pronounced cured.

4-H Club News

By EDWIN D. TAYLOR
Associate County Extension Agent

Once again it is the time of year to organize 4-H tractor clubs.

The 4-H tractor program is designed to give young men the opportunity to learn the why and how of tractor care. The boys actually work with tractors at their 4-H club meetings.

Boys taking the first year 4-H tractor project study tractor safety, engine operation, lubrication, oils, air cleaning, carburetion, ignition, and cooling. The advanced projects go into more details in tractors and also other machinery.

Tractor club members are eligible to participate in the tractor operator's contest at the Pickaway County Fair. The contest is the combination of a written test on tractor problems and an operators test where the boy actually drives a tractor pulling various pieces of equipment through an obstacle course.

The contestant is timed and graded on his skill in operating the tractor and attached equipment. The county fair winner participates in the contest at the Ohio State Fair. In the past few years several youth from Pickaway County have won state and regional honors in the tractor operators contest.

We will have at least three tractor clubs in the county this year. If enough boys are interested we could have more. The only requirements are that you be 12-20 years of age, have access to a tractor between meetings, and attend the meetings. Tractor clubs usually have 10 meetings, usually once a week, starting the last of February and running through March and April.

FINAL dates haven't been set for the tractor club organization meetings. If you are interested in joining a tractor club it is necessary that we have your name, age, address, and direction you live from Circleville so that we can contact you when the nearest tractor club organizes.

You can give us this information over the phone by calling GR 4-5828, or send a post card to the Agricultural Extension Service, 159½ E. Main St., Circleville, with the above mentioned information on it.

Have you ever thought about reupholstering a chair? Probably many of you have but are a little hesitant to start it by yourself.

The Extension Service is offering classes on reupholstery. Those interested in doing some hard work may attend.

There will be a "kick off" meeting of upholstery at 1:30 p. m. Thursday at Wayne Twp. School. This is a very important meeting as we will discuss the kinds of chair, which can be reupholstered, labor involved, cost of materials and tools, kinds of materials used, and tools needed. We will also set up classes as to location and time.

Information will be welcome as to places we can hold upholstery classes. It must be a place where we can safely leave the chairs for 6 to 8 weeks.

Trick reducing diets, the mystery foods, and "weight control" pills for losing pounds painlessly are bought by men and women of all ages.

These people fool themselves into thinking that reducing pills and a fad diet would be a much easier way to reduce weight than to have all the pains of counting calories.

Some people refuse to believe a hard but simple and scientifically sound truth: overweight comes from eating more food than the body requires in terms of energy spent.

IT MAY be useless, physically harmful, or both, to become involved in trick reducing. Some fad diets are so poorly balanced that chronic fatigue or actual illness may result. In others, the diets may be useless because they lack variety, are monotonous, and will be followed only a short time.

Some weight may be lost on such a diet but will be regained when normal eating habits are continued. Such diets fail to establish a new pattern of eating which is nutritionally adequate.

The only safe sure way to control weight is to change daily food habits to provide the foods necessary to meet a body's nutritional needs without extra calories. This means counting calories and with will power and determination it can be easily done.

Any type of drugs or pills advertised for weight control should be used only under medical supervision. Diet fads come and go with changing emphasis. New foods crop up continually. The best protection for the consumer should be his own intelligent skepticism about extravagant and mysterious claims and information for reliable agencies.

Ohio Dem Leaders Ponder Appraisals of Gov. DiSalle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An image of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle as "the best governor and the worst politician" apparently is causing concern in Democratic circles.

Friends of the governor generally regard the description as a compliment to his administration. But some party leaders wonder about an adverse effect on next year's election campaigns, now in the making.

Welfare Director Mary Gorman started a cabinet meeting by recounting that she heard the "best governor-worst politician" saying repeated in Cleveland where some felt that "anything below the turnpike isn't in Ohio."

DiSalle observed that his programs are non-political and that he is more concerned with the state's general welfare than with patronage cleared through the party organization of which he is titular head.

But others asserted DiSalle's diligent efforts have stirred up old political issues and generated new ones. Regardless of objectives, they insisted, administration programs ultimately have a cumulative effect that shows up in election returns.

Democrat losses in the Ohio election last November disappointed party leaders and bolstered the hopes of Buckeye Republicans despite President Kennedy's national victory.

Many GOP leaders attributed Ohio gains to a campaign issue handed them by DiSalle. Candidates hammered away at the third - of-a-billion-dollar tax increases voted by a Democratic-controlled Legislature at DiSalle's behest. They claimed the boost was at least $100 million more than needed.

But DiSalle contended all the money and more was needed for schools, state hospitals, prisons, welfare, highways and the like.

Standing pat, the governor drafted a state operating budget for the next two years that would require an additional $150 million in revenues to finance what he termed minimum needs, including capital improvements.

Republicans, now in control of the Legislature, refused to introduce the administration appropriation bill on grounds that spending proposals exceeded anticipated revenues.

Bowing to demands for a balanced budget, DiSalle's finance director pointed out where cuts could be made in appropriations for education, welfare, mental health and highway safety.

The governor previously warned Republicans that failure to find money for his programs would place on them the responsibility for cuts in state services.

But a number of legislators termed the stand political and predicted it would backfire.

They said Republicans now are in position to take credit for a curb on increased spending that might have been difficult if DiSalle had sent up a budget tailored to revenues.

By revamping the appropriation measure, GOP leaders hope to stay within revenues without deep cuts in services to keep no-new-tax campaign pledges.

In that way they expect to keep the high tax issue alive and capitalize on dissatisfaction with DiSalle in north-of-the-turnpike Democratic strongholds which often provide the votes necessary for party candidates to offset downstate Republican election strength.

410 Miami Students Dropped for Poor Grades

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Failure to maintain proper grades dropped 410 students, including 244 freshmen, from Miami University's enrollment at the end of the first semester. The registrar said the scholastic casualty list was "substantially lower" than last year.

Miami had an enrollment of 6,937 on Oct. 1 but 170 students later dropped out for various reasons.

There were these major claims against the estate:

A $93,500 tax claim by the federal government; a $21,000 tax claim by the state; $17,000 for administration fees; $21,750 for Lillian Steele, $16,150 by her son Alfred, and $97,534 which Miss Crawford said she loaned to Steele.

Said the government: "It is apparent that at the present time the executors do not have sufficient disbursements to pay in full the administration expenses and the priority claims. They clearly are unable at the present time to pay any nonpriority claims."

The executors said they had on hand a total of $95,000.

Auto Workers May Ask Say In Plant Sites

DETROIT (AP) — A United Auto Workers spokesman said Thursday night the big union may seek to limit the automakers' right to locate their plants.

Kenneth Bannon, director of the UAW's Ford department, voiced the threat in a debate on automation with Malcolm L. Denise, vice president for labor relations at Ford Motor Co.

The UAW contract with the Big Three automakers, Ford, General Motors and Chrysler, runs out this summer.

The debate took place before an overflow audience of Detroit industry and union leaders.

Bannon cited industry rumors that Ford is going to build two new cars, one smaller than the current compact Falcon and one larger.

"The new cars ought to be built right here in Detroit," Bannon said. "We have a lot of workers affected by automation. Why not help them?"

"If Ford does not want to live up to its moral obligation, our people at the company say that, come the 1961 negotiations, we should put some teeth in the new contract on management's right to locate plants."

Denise did not respond. Michigan has been hard hit by plants relocating elsewhere and lack of new industry in the state.

Ned D. Hampp, USN, Stoutsville, is serving aboard the radar picket destroyer USS O'Hare operating with the Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

South Point OKd For Chemical Plant

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP) — Allied Chemical Corp. will build a plant at nearby South Point, Ohio, to produce melamine crystal, it was announced here Thursday night.

I. H. Fooshee, vice president of the firm, told the annual meeting of the Ashland Board of Trade that the new plant will have a production capacity of 20 million pounds of melamine annually.

The chemical is a basic material for melamine dinnerware, laminating, coating and molded products.

The new plant should be completed in 1962, Fooshee said.

Allied Chemical operates plants here and at Ironton and South Point, Ohio.

CHECKERBOARD service bulletin

Purina's Dairy Program has helped Floyd Wachtel's herd produce ...

1,991 lbs. more milk per cow

The whole Wachtel family helps milk and handle their Guernseys. Above, Mr. Wachtel, center, milks Peggy, foreground, feeds. Sally washes udders. Bill sets up pipeline milker. The Wachtel place is near Big Prairie, Ohio.

Floyd Wachtel's registered Guernsey herd made 7,474 lbs. milk per cow in their 1956-57 test year. Last year, they finished with an average of 9,465 lbs. milk ... and the herd included 10 more cows! Such an increase is a tribute to Floyd Wachtel's cowmanship and the way he manages his herd with the help of his active, capable and enthusiastic family. And, in Wachtel's case, good cowmanship includes feeding and managing their herd the research-backed Purina Way!

Their 30-cow herd maintains a 4.8% test, averaged 455 lbs. fat per cow last year. Individuals have made as high as 629 lbs. fat in 305 days. Four of their Purina-fed first-calf heifers recently averaged well above 10,000 lbs. milk ... just a shade under 500 lbs. fat. Calves are raised with Purina Nursing Chow and Calf Startena. At the suggestion of their Purina Dealer, they started feeding a research-backed Check-R-Mix high-energy milking ration two years ago and definitely feel this move to the fact their herd produced 1991 lbs. more milk per cow in 1958 than in 1956.

See us for details of the Purina Dairy Program, followed by Floyd Wachtel and so many other successful dairymen wherever cows are important.

100 Years Ago this week in the U.S.A.

The secession of Georgia completes the bolt from the United States of the key southern block. The question now is what influence these cotton states will hold over their adjacent neighbors in the revolutionary movement.

In one state, Louisiana, it seems apparent that the legislature will join its sister states, especially in view of the seizure of two main forts at the mouth of the Mississippi: Fort Jackson on the west bank and Fort St. Philip, across river.

Mississippi also seized the unfinished fort on Ship Island this week and occupied the Marine Hospital on the Mississippi River.

In Washington, it appears that efforts toward adjustment of sectional differences are not going to be productive. The Senate passed, on Wednesday, a resolution of Mr. Clark (N.H.) that called for recognition of the Constitution as sufficient for protecting the interests of the country as a whole and for full effort toward maintaining the Union through obedience to the Constitution.

This resolution did, in effect, eliminate any hopes for passing Mr. Crittenden's compromise plan into amendment form. The vote on the Clark resolution was 25 to 23 with 6 abstentions. The House is now considering the rather weak suggestions for adjustment policies submitted to them last week by its Committee of 33.

The state of Virginia, in the meantime, is vigorously pressing its own peace plan. The Legislature of the "Old Dominion" has passed a series of resolutions this week inviting other states of the Union to send representatives to meet at a "Peace Conference" in Washington on February 4. One of the resolutions suggested that the Crittenden compromise measure be used as a basis for adjustment.

WHITE HOUSE sources have released the information that Col. I. W. Hayne, representing himself as attorney general of the sovereign commonwealth of South Carolina, arrived in Washington last week with an officer from Major Anderson's command at Fort Sumter. Col. Hayne informally visited with President Buchanan on the 14th. In the meantime, however, informants have it that several Senators from states already seceded are concerned over the demand for Fort Sumter which Hayne reportedly carries from Governor Pickens.

It is said that the Senators have requested Hayne to withhold the demand until the seceded states have been able to convene and establish cooperative planning. This request was supposedly consented to by Hayne, providing the Senators could receive assurance that reinforcements would not be sent to Sumter before he could confer with Governor Pickens.

The Senators presented this correspondence to the President and, though nothing official has been issued, it is understood that the President has acknowledged that a truce exists as long as Hayne is in the Capital. Of course, the presence of Anderson's emissary also indicates that the Major's truce request of the 13th is still in effect.

A tense situation seems to be developing in Florida where state militia has demanded surrender of Fort Pickens from Lt. A. J. Slemmer. Slemmer conferred with the Federal Navy ships, standing by, and then on the 16th issued a refusal. A second demand came on Friday, to which Slemmer referred to his previous refusal as still valid.

A bill to admit the territory of Kansas as a state in the Union was passed by the Senate Monday by a vote of 36 to 16. Nine northern Democrats joined the Republicans in its support.

Secretary of War Holt issued notice to Major Anderson at Fort Sumter this week that his perception of the critical situation arising from the firing on the Star of the West, and his resultant calmness and forbearance in the matter was worthy of high commendation and has been fully approved of by the President.

Judge Logjam Break Is Due

By pure coincidence, federal judgeships are about equally balanced between the two parties. There are now 167 Republican and 165 Democratic judges, including the Supreme Court justices. It just happened that way, no thanks to either party.

William Rogers, attorney general in the Eisenhower administration, last year agreed to a proposal to divide new judgeships evenly. This altruistic plan died on the way to Congress. Actually, in its eight years the administration had appointed only 11 Democrats against 178 Republicans. During the Roosevelt and Truman tenures only about one of 14 named to the federal bench was a Republican.

In his final budget message, Mr. Eisenhower took note of the congested conditions in the courts and urged early creation of new judgeships. In the last several years the Democrats had declined to move for new judgeships. Now action at this session is virtually certain.

Whether the Democrats abide by the 50-

50 proposition they won from Mr. Rogers will be awaited with interest. In a letter to the American Bar Association last summer, President Kennedy voiced his hope that the paramount consideration in the appointment of a judge would not be his political party but his qualifications for the office.

Robert Kennedy, after his appointment to the cabinet, expressed the same high nonpartisan sentiments. If more Democrats appear to be more qualified than Republicans, they'll get the jobs — naturally.

Courtin' Main

Some people are never at peace except when they are fighting.

Road to Prosperity Outlined

At the beginning of 1960 economists projected consumer spending at somewhere between $336 billion and $342 billion for the year. The final figure was an estimated $328 billion — no mean sum in contrast with the $314 billion of prosperous 1959.

The U. S. economy, along with that of most others, is strongly dependent upon consumer spending. And while personal income last year rose to a new high, there was a mood which mitigated against consumer spending on the scale predicted. That resulted in larger than usual individual savings.

Now another year is well under way and chances are personal income will be on an ascending scale as the business tempo quickens. That should create a mood for buying, a mood that can be enhanced by the savings of the past.

The "hard sell" cannot be abandoned. Goods are not scarce and the consumer can pick and choose. An estimated 30 per cent or more of the family incomes goes for services — rent, medical care, transportation, recreation, education and the like.

But rising personal income and increasing confidence are the factors which will put America back on the prosperity tracks.

New Officials Are a Mixture

By George Sokolsky

When one is elected President of the United States, he is faced by the political necessity of appointing a host of deserving and undeserving fellow-countrymen to positions in the government for which they may or may not be fitted.

No man can possibly know personally or by name all those who are recommended by Senators, Representatives, politicians and even personal friends. The pressures are frightful and often disgusting.

President Kennedy's State Department is a three-headed monster which may straighten out before long. Already Adlai Stevenson spoke out of turn as to what he "guessed" the President intended to do about a meeting with Khrushchev. This did not comport with the President's own statement by the President's own secretary, had to say that Stevenson's statement was his private opinion.

Immediately thereafter a general order was issued that all public pronouncements made by the great of the Administration had to conform to its policies. This was supposed to refer particularly to an address Admiral Burke was to have delivered, but it could apply to Stevenson's obiter dicta at the United Nations.

At any rate, that ought to be the rule or we shall have all kinds of opinions, issued by all sorts of great men, for the woods are full of them and they all like to talk.

The appointment of Thomas K. Finletter to be Ambassador to NATO is undoubtedly a phase of the political situation in New York City. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Senator Herbert Lehman and Thomas K. Finletter are organizers of the Democratic reformers who hope to oust Tammany Boss Carmine DeSapio and take over the Democratic organization. Obviously neither Mrs. Roosevelt nor Senator Lehman could be Tammany bosses. They just would not know how.

Thomas Finletter could have taken over if the leaders wanted him which they did not. And now, he has been appointed to NATO which takes him out of New York politics where some advocated that he be the Democratic candidate for Governor against Nelson Rockefeller who would probably have made mince-meat of him.

As for the appointment of Edward R. Murrow to be the head of the United States Information Agency, it is only possible to say that since its organization, this agency has never been suitably manned. What is required there is a competent propagandist, a firm believer in the nature and product of American civilization, an able administrator of a large body of advocates and propagandists in every media.

Not to get into a controversy over personalities, I shall name two dead men as examples of the kind of personalities which I believe would be fitted by training, experience, imagination and temperament to do this work, Ivy Lee and Carl Byoir. In their field there are many capable men in this country but they are not in politics or in the public eye. They project their clients not themselves.

Maybe Murrow can do this propaganda job better than his predecessors not one of whom understood the great art of press agency which is at the heart of the work.

The late Herbert Bayard Swope disliked the word, press agent. He called himself a policy consultant. The fanciful term these days is public relations consultant. Call these workers in the field of propaganda what you will this country needs someone who will bring to it flair, imagination, devotion, belief — and vast skill in the projection of ideas.

The best at it are the British who skillfully and convincingly have beaten down a deteriorating view of their significance. The Russians are not equally good at it because the yare coarse and offensive. They do better than we do. What we have to sell is human liberty and human dignity. The peoples of the Earth somehow do not believe that that is our motive.

Meanwhile our colleges and universities are being denuded of professors who are taken over by the Administration. What Harvard will do about a faculty is up to that university which apparently can afford a rid itself of its scholars for any Administration that wants them.

Perhaps the best way to get a job in Washington is to be neither a Republican nor a Democrat, but to go to Harvard, get to be a professor and end up a government official. Columbus, Yale and Princeton do not seem to be in the running this time.

Ex-president Eisenhower took the wheel of an automobile during his Georgia visit and drove the car himself for the first time in 21 years. Probably found it a lot easier than steering the ship of state.

Statistics show that only 2,621 of 1960's 10,858 crop of two-year-old race horses won. Still want to bet?

A New Guinea volcano has been spouting ash more than 5,000 feet into the air. A little higher and that mountain may find itself in orbit.

The Duke of Edinburgh, on a tiger hunt with Queen Elizabeth in India, bagged one of the big striped cats on his first shot. Beginner's luck?

Shades of the 1960 World Series: Wonder if those Caribbean sea pirates who seized that luxury liner realized there were 26 Yankees aboard?

If fat folk are generally more honest than skinny ones (and we wouldn't wager on it!) could it be because they can't stoop to conquer?

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A NEWLY UNCOVERED Abraham Lincoln anecdote: At the age of 24 Lincoln served as postmaster in the obscure hamlet of New Salem, Ill., for which he drew down the princely annual salary of $55.70.

The postoffice was abandoned in 1836, but it was several years before a federal agent arrived from Washington to settle accounts with ex-postmaster Lincoln, now practicing law with indifferent results.

The agent determined that the sum of seventeen dollars was due the government. Lincoln opened, an old trunk, and took out a yellowed cotton bag containing exactly seventeen dollars. He had been holding it untouched for all the years. "I never use any man's money but my own," he said.

Orville Reed defines civilization as "a system under which a man pays a quarter to park his car so he won't be fined five dollars while spending a dime for a cup of coffee."

1,800 Muskegon Jobs To Be Lost

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—Men in heavy work clothes, their faces drawn with anxiety, discussed the news. Wives thought of the future, and saw little hope.

In club and cafe, in modest home or luxurious, one theme dominated all talk: The disaster. Everyone knew what that meant. The news that Borg-Warner Corp. is going to transfer its Norg Division, manufacturer of refrigerators and freezers, to Fort Smith, Ark., sometime early this summer.

That was the scene today in gloomy Muskegon as citizens girded for a last ditch effort—which nearly everyone discounted beforehand—to convince Norg to stay.

Judson Sayre, Borg-Warner president, said the company was moving to Arkansas because of "favorable business climate, expanding South and Southwest markets, anticipated growth in this general area, and a shifting of the center of population which will influence future consumer purchasing."

How are the people taking it? If the firm moves, "we have 1,800 more people out of work," said one man. "Where are they going to get new jobs? Some are old men and employers don't want old people. Others have never worked anywhere else and don't know anything else but working for Norg."

The Norg decision to move, announced Wednesday, means that some 1,800 jobs will be eliminated in the Muskegon-Muskegon Heights area of northwest Lower Michigan, already plagued by high unemployment. According to latest figures, 6,500 persons are unemployed in the area. This is an 11.6 per cent unemployment rate, and compares to the national figure of 7 per cent.

The fall-off in employment has affected retail sales and the general economy of the area, which will be further depressed by the Norg move out of town.

In addition to eliminating jobs, the shift to Arkansas will mean an estimated loss of $10-million a year in payrolls; $20 million in Norg purchases of services and supplies; a loss of some $200,000 in property taxes, and some $120,000 more in other revenues.

Roadside Fruit Stand Is Boon For Growers

CLEVELAND (AP)—Did you ever stop your car at a roadside fruit stand? You probably were satisfied with the price—and the quality.

Well, the fellow on the other side of that stand likes it, too. Retail market pays off for the fruit grower located within driving distance of an urban population, it was reported Thursday at the Ohio State Horticultural Society's annual meeting.

A panel on marketing came to that conclusion. "The only future we have in this area is in retailing," said Sam Patterson of near-by Chesterland. His family operated one of the most successful roadside markets in northern Ohio. "We'd be out of the picture at wholesale prices," he added.

Phil Davis of Perrysburg, who quit railroading 11 years ago to open a roadside stand, said produce marketing for the drive-in trade was one answer to the high investment of farming.

"If I were a young man, I wouldn't start out railroading," Davis said. "I'd open a farm market."

Kenny Krantz of North Industry has a market near Massillon, an outlet for 90 per cent of the apples from a 75-acre orchard at a uniform $1.49 a peck for top grades. Mark Shanafelt of Peninsula told of success in retailing high quality cider along with fruit.

The society paid high tribute to one of the state's foremost apple authorities in electing Carl W. Ellenwood of Wooster to the dual offices of president and secretary. Patterson and Tom Price of Newark were elected vice presidents, and I. P. Lewis of New Waterford was re-elected treasurer.

The Ohio State University Health Center last year served 243,764 patients.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—How to pay for President Kennedy's proposed crash program for braking the recession he says is with us and may get worse?

Industrial and financial leaders—and ordinary taxpayers—today are studying his economic message to Congress for a clue to that. More taxes? A bigger federal debt? More inflation?

Many agree with the President that the need to do something is more pressing than a temporary imbalance of the federal budget. Others fear this will just open the fiscal gates to still more spending and eventually to more monetary inflation and rising prices.

The President says that in time the program will pay for itself—

Dear Sir:

"The 'SCOURGE OF AMERICA' has hit your fair City.

"For the past 10 years I have observed with interest the improvements in your highways, schools and residential areas. The relocation of Route 23 along with the construction of DuPont, A&P, renovations by Container Corporation of America and the new Scioto River Bridge have all helped to make the North-South approach to your city one of the most beautiful in Ohio.

"As we periodically traveled this highway, we observed the addition of a very charming building of excellent taste called 'The Apple House'. We had even thought of writing you then to compliment those responsible for this improvement to your city.

"We had the occasion during the past week to make another trip over this highway. Words will not explain the nauseating feeling as we observed the present appearance of the once beautiful 'Apple House'.

"Nothing could degrade a city more in the eyes of a prospective industry or business than the repulsive existence of an auto graveyard such as this and the one adorning the south approach on Route 23. And most distressing is the fact that age will multiply their ugliness.

"Perhaps we are more cognizant of this situation due to the fact that by profession we determine and recommend sites for industrial locations. We had some part in the decision of one of your present industries to locate in your community.

"Under present circumstances, with competition among cities and states for industry, we could not list enough items on the credit side of the ledger to overbalance the appearance of two junkyards on the main approaches to your town.

"You may use this information for what it is worth, but we can recommend that the Chamber of Commerce and the business men of your community inaugurate a drive to eliminate detracting situations such as this.

"Failure to do so might not only discourage new business but may result in the loss of some of your present industry. Firms today have no problem in finding desirable locations and every effort should be made to attract them.

"We know that wrecking yards, city dumps, rendering plants and the like are essential to the general operation of the country. Some states have laws that restrict a business of this type such as West Virginia which requires them to locate 1,000 feet from a traveled highway and to screen them from view by a planting of high shrubbery.

In our opinion, it is deplorable that millions of dollars invested by the State, industry and private enterprise in improvement and beautification can be obliterated by operator of a wrecking yard with no sense of civic pride."

Yours very truly,

by stimulating the economy and thus providing the increased incomes which the Treasury will tap for larger tax returns.

His argument: the budget prepared by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower estimates Treasury revenue in the 1962 fiscal year of $82.3 billion. But if the economy was operating at its full potential, Kennedy says the revenue would be $90 billion. This is because the Treasury gets the greatest share of its receipts from taxes on individual and corporate incomes—the more prosperous the economy, the greater the Treasury take.

The President further pledges that he would move to brake any resurgence of monetary inflation just as he now proposes quick federal spending programs to give consumers more money to spend and thus brake the recession.

President Kennedy also has his eye on new revenue sources for the Treasury. He will ask Congress for "measures to remove several unwarranted special tax benefits, and to improve tax compliance and administration."

Business and individuals will have to wait for him to spell out the so-called loopholes he proposes to close.

But industries affected won't like the measures, whether they be aimed at depletion allowances for oil and mining companies or at stock options and other auxiliaries to salaries for corporate executives.

And many will hope for a moderate course in another problem he describes this way: "Rapid technological change is resulting in serious employment dislocations, which deny us the full stimulus to growth which advancing technology makes possible."

The President suggests a study of the problem by a group drawn from labor, management and the public.

And he hopes Congress will help by modifying the income tax laws to provide additional incentives for investment in plant and equipment." He thinks this should help price stability also since "price increases for many products and services have occurred because these industries have lagged behind the march of productivity and technological advance."

A potential drain on the Treasury would lie in such plans as federal funds for education and Social Security benefits—and in the chance that proposed temporary measures become permanent.

But any increase in federal spending will stimulate some industries, no matter how it may fret some taxpayers.

Some Captive Passengers Wept, Some Fell in Love

RECIFE, Brazil (AP)—Some wept, some laughed, some shook with fear and tension. Some plotted, some fought, and some fell in love.

But the nearly 600 passengers trapped aboard the Santa Maria for 12 harrowing days of seaborne revolution in the end suffered nothing more serious than a bad case of jitters before they were landed Thursday at this port on the Brazilian bulge.

Mrs. John Dietz of Gainesville, Fla., the first American to step ashore, summed up the feelings of the others as she exclaimed, "This is wonderful, you have no idea."

For Mr. and Mrs. David Crockett of Pompano, Fla., the end of the unscheduled, 2,800-mile odyssey came with a tinge of sentimental sadness. They had played cupid to a young Dutchman and a Spanish senorita who had met during the cruise, fell in love and plan to marry.

"Be happy, dears, stay in love," said Mrs. Crockett, her eyes moist, as she parted from William Vandarmeer of Amsterdam and pretty, brunette Laura Menendes of Oviedo, Spain.

Tensions rose to such a pitch during the final days at sea that two American men—not identified—swapped fistcuffs over something trivial.

The Americans—all of whom traveled first and second class—expressed compassion for the others in the cramped third class quarters who were put on stricter food and water rations.

A Dutch policeman among the passengers, Paul Ventian, said he and three other men spent their time plotting to take the ship away from the rebels.

In lighter moments the passengers—representing nine nationalities—nicknamed the ship "Santa Manana." Every time they asked the rebels when they would get off, they got the same answer, "manana."

Manana finally came for them Thursday.

Dayton Bird Dies, Leaves $15,000 Fund

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Dayton's richest bird is dead, leaving no heirs to its $15,000 estate.

An abdominal tumor claimed the life of Phillip, sole surviving ward of a $15,000 trust. The trust was created from the multimillion dollar estate of Mrs. John A. MacMillan for care of the suburban Oakwood woman's pets.

E. J. Koestner, director of Dayton's Museum of Natural History, Thursday disclosed the colorful cockateel died in January. Trustees reported the trust, which now passes to Miami Valley Hospital here under terms of the will, is now more than the original $15,000 since expenditures never equaled income.

Mrs. MacMillan, widow of a former president and board chairman of the Dayton Rubber Co., died in 1953. She had set up the trust care for the bird, another cockateel and a miniature Doberman pinscher. The other pets have since died.

The museum director said, "When Phillip first came, there was no getting next to him. He was like a spoiled rich bird. He was wild and seemed indignant." Phillip is presently in the freezer at the museum. He had been kept at the museum since 1959 when Mrs. MacMillan's house man died. The bird's future rests with the verdict of the taxidermist.

Tight Guards

CAMDEN, S. C. (AP) — When raiders hit a big still near Camden, they found the human operators had fled leaving some natural guardians behind.

First, a flock of bees, apparently tipsy from the mash, attacked. The officers countered with a smoke screen.

Then, from under the mash barrel, came a water moccasin, too much under the influence to crawl straight. The snake fell into the nearby creek and floated off downstream — too drunk to swim, said a raider.

Cleveland Branch
Of OSU is Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Legislation to require a branch of Ohio State University in Cuyahoga County was introduced in the Ohio House today.

Reps. Michael J. Crosser and Joseph J. Horvath, Cleveland Democrats, offered the measure to appropriate $16 million of which $1 million would go for purchase of a site to be selected by a commission.

The Ohio State University at be composed of the president of Ohio State, Baldwin-Wallace and John Carroll Universities, contractors William J. Schirmer and Rudy Ursprung and two union representatives appointed by the governor.

NEW NEIGHBOR

When Betty Marlowe moved into our neighborhood we invited her to join the garden club and the baby sitters' club and the civic association, but it never occurred to any of us to ask her if she'd like to go to church.

Then, one Saturday, she phoned me. "My husband is often out of town on Sundays and I don't have the car when he's away," she explained. "Would you and Bill mind if I went to church with you?"

Mind! We were delighted—but I was also a little ashamed. And I wondered how many others there were in our neighborhood who would like to go to our church, if they were given the encouragement of an invitation.

From now on, I'm not waiting to be asked. I'm asking first!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Make Church - Going a Habit

Two Languages in One Home Confuses Only Daddy; Children Like Double-Talk

By JOAN L. MACE
Herald Staff Writer
Little Gean Pierre and Ellen Payter are one jump ahead of most children.
They live in a house divided; divided in language, that is.
Their mother, Mrs. Payter (Eselle) hails from Rimouski, Quebec, Canada, where she and her 12 brothers and sisters spoke French. William Payter was born in South Wales, Great Britain, and speaks only English.

So that puts Gean, 3, and Ellen, 2 right in the middle. They understand both languages.
Claude, two months and the youngest of the Payter clan, won't have to worry about mastering both languages for some time.
The Payters have lived at 814 N. Court St. for the past year where Payter is employed as a horticulturist at Brehmer Greenhouse.
Mrs. Payter has learned to speak English well in her 12 years in the United States but she says that French comes easier.
"Since I speak French around the house, it is natural that Gean and Ellen pick up the language."
"The children seem to sense that French is something special that only they and I understand," stated Mrs. Payter.
"When their father comes home they know that he doesn't understand this special talk," she said.
"My husband tried to learn my native dialect the first year of our marriage but then gave up," the charming young housewife said with a smile.

"Once in a while I will be rattling off in French and he will give me that bewildered look, so I quickly change," she stated.
"The children like to tease their father," she laughed. "Last Thanksgiving while I was basting the turkey, the children said, big 'poulet' which means chicken. Their father said, no, it's chicken, but they giggled and continued to call it 'poulet'.
Mrs. Payter said that she likes it here in Circleville.
"The only difference I see in the U. S. and Canada is that people here move in a much faster pace than in my native country," she stated.
Although most parents would think that two languages in one home would present a problem, Mrs. Payter thinks it is not unusual and it doesn't seem to bother little Gean Pierre and Ellen.

U.S. Parents Should Not Adopt Koreans

Even with 13,000 children in 139 orphanages scattered over South Korea, Dr. Bob Pierce usually says "No" to American parents who want to adopt them.
The man who heads World Vision Inc., an organization which pays for the parentless Korean youngsters' support, thinks it is important to the children and to Korea to keep them in their own country.
Dr. Bob, as he is called, worries about an Asian child's ability to be absorbed in Western culture. . . his later chances to marry.
"The country is suffering now from a lack of leadership," the ordained Baptist minister adds. "We don't want to deprive Korea of the best kind of trained civilized youngsters that Christian love can produce."

However, there ARE orphans in Korea to be adopted by Americans. One such baby, a blue-eyed, brown-haired GI Korean child sitting in a garbage dump prompted Dr. Bob to start his work with orphans.
"I'm all for Americans adopting mix-blood children and taking them from countries where the cultural pattern means absolute rejection for the child," Dr. Bob says. "The GI children broke my heart. Koreans absolutely would not accept them."
Following wide publicity about the plight of the mix-blood children Americans adopted or are adopting them.

Those orphanages financed by the World Vision Inc. house full-blood Koreans. "We're raising them in their own culture," Dr. Bob says.
Dr. Bob became a servant of missionaries at work in places of need with little financial help. The orphanages are administered by Korean churches and staffed, except for nine Americans, by Koreans.
World Vision provides $10 a month for each child through the contributions of some 12,000 persons in America. The children attend school in the villages or cities where they live.

Dr. Bob's story of World Vision and the people in 20 countries which it has helped was published recently in a book called, "Let My Heart Be Broken."

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

A Man Apart!

DEAR ABBY: My father is my problem. Pop is 73 and insists on wearing his hat in the house, restaurants and everywhere else he goes. I say he should take his hat off when he's indoors. He says all newspapermen wear their hats indoors and he used to be a newspaperman. Is this correct, and what should I tell him?
AT ODDS WITH POP
DEAR AT ODDS: Newspapermen go by the same rules of etiquette as everyone else. Elderly people can become as spoiled as children, so handle him with firmness and affection and tell Pop to take his hat off indoors because he's beginning to talk through it.

DEAR ABBY: Just before Christmas our mother got a ticket for speeding. It cost her $25, which upset her terribly because it was her first offense in 32 years of driving. It also took a hunk out of her Christmas fund.
My brother and I wanted to cheer her up, so we typed a letter saying she had been "overcharged" by the Highway Department and we enclosed $20. We signed the letter "Captain Rednug" (which is our name spelled backwards). We thought she'd catch on, but she didn't. Now she is showing the letter all over town believing it really came from the Highway Department.
Our problem is whether to let her believe this or to tell her the truth. We don't want her to find out later and feel foolish.

THE GUNDERS
DEAR GUNDERS: If you have a sense of honor, tell her—and hope she has a sense of humor. But no more forgeries, or you will all wind up in the "wogsooh" (which is "hoosgow" spelled backwards).
DEAR ABBY: I recently returned home from a TB sanitarium and was told my health was excellent and that I should lead a normal life.
My problem is how to convince my friends and neighbors. During the holidays people actually LEFT Christmas gifts for the children at our door because they were afraid to come in. This hurt the children terribly, as they are old enough to understand the situation. I would rather they had not received those gifts at all.
Abby, are we living in the 20th century or the stone age? Are people so ignorant that they think former TB patients released from a sanitarium will contaminate them? Please, please print my letter. If you can educate just a few, it will save so much heartbreak for former TB patients and their families.

Walnut Unit Clips Bronc Five, 60-58

A gigantic cage battle last night saw walnut stop visiting Ashville, 60-58, in one of the most thrilling and hardfought county games of the season.

A standing room only crowd witnessed all and even more excitement than was anticipated in the traditional rivalry. It was a classic example of two fine teams battling from start to finish.

Homecoming prevailed at Walnut and the fighting Tigers of Coach Paul Reiss didn't disappoint the partisan crowd. The same tribute must be paid to Coach Russ Gregg's Broncos who never

Duke Poised For Revenge Against N.C.

Blue Devils Seek To Equalize Defeat Of Last December

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Second-ranked St. Bonaventure got its revenge against third-ranked Bradley Thursday night in New York. Now it's fourth-ranked Duke's turn against fifth-ranked North Carolina in the Saturday feature of a showdown week in college basketball.

The Blue Devils of Duke and the Tar Heels of North Carolina play at Durham, N.C. tonight in a rematch of the final of December's Dixie Classic, won by North Carolina 76-71.

That loss is the only blot in 16 games this season for Duke and one that probably will have to be avenged if Coach Vic Bubas' club is to join St. Bonaventure as the chief national challenger to top-ranked Ohio State.

Another victory for North Carolina could catapult the Tar Heels into the same challenging position about the only consolation left for a team that has been placed on NCAA probation and is ineligible for postseason competition.

The Dixie Classic victory is part of a 12-game winning streak North Carolina (14-2) has fashioned since splitting its first four games of the season. Besides national ranking, also at stake is the regular season lead in the Atlantic Coast Conference—result of which determines merely the seedings for the postseason ACC tournament. Each is 7-0 in conference play.

Top-ranked Ohio State takes its 20-game winning streak to Ann Arbor for an afternoon Big Ten test with sub-par Michigan, and three other members of the top 10 are scheduled.

Sixth-ranked Iowa (12-2) challenges Cincinnati (15-3) and the Bearcats' 10-game unbeaten string in a Chicago Stadium doubleheader that also matches Detroit with Chicago Loyola. Eighth ranked Southern California, 78-63 victor Friday night over Big Five foe UCLA, plays the Uclans again, and 10th-ranked Kansas State resumes Big Eight Conference tussling at Oklahoma.

LaSalle and St. Joseph's (Pa.) battle for the Middle Atlantic Conference lead, Mississippi State's Southeastern Conference leaders entertain LSU, Dayton is at Memphis State, and New York University meets Syracuse at Utica, N.Y., before the national television cameras, in other noteworthy games.

Southern Cal's victory was the Trojans' eighth straight and fifth without a loss in the league. The Trojans opened a big lead over UCLA and Stanford (both 2-2) as the latter was trounced 71-47 by Washington. John Rudometkin, 10th among the nation's major college scorers, led the Southern Cal attack with 27 points, 20 in the second half.

In the first of a two-night test between two tournament-conscious independents, Oregon (11-5) defeated Oregon State (12-5) in overtime, 58-55. Leon Hayes scored three free throws in the waning minutes of the overtime to give Oregon its sixth straight victory.

Louisville (17-3) and Niagara (10-3), another pair of independents with post-season ideas scored easy victories, while Maine gained a share of the Yankee Conference lead with Connecticut.

Seventh-ranked Louisville, winding up a three-game swing through the Deep South, laced Loyola of New Orleans 75-58 on 67 per cent field goal shooting and 23 points by John Turner.

Niagara, with slump-ridden Al Butler leading a second-half surge stopped Holy Cross (10-4), an other tournament-hopeful 86-73. Butler totaled 18, with 15 coming in the second half, although Kennedy Glenn topped the winners with 20.

Maine (14-1) ran its Yankee record to 5-1, the same as defending champ Connecticut, with a 78-75 victory over Massachusetts. Maine broke away from a 73-73 tie in the last 45 seconds.

In the night's big upset, Stetson knocked off Miami, Fla. 76-68. Clemson defeated Virginia 80-81 in an Atlantic Coast Conference game, and The Citadel stopped George Washington 80-72 in the South.

Santa Clara (13-6) remained unbeaten in the West Coast Athletic Conference with its third victory, 43-40 over Pepperdine. Los Angeles Loyola kept its WCAC title hopes alive with a 54-45 victory over San Jose.

County's Jr. High Tourney Is Successful

The Pickaway County Junior High basketball tournament this season produced a total of $412.75 in receipts.

According to a report by Lawrence Fullen, tournament manager, expenditures amounted to $259.79, leaving a net profit of $152.96.

A pre-tournament balance of $48.48 now gives the junior high tournament organization a balance of $201.44 as of January 30, 1961.

A summary of the past tournament disclosed that 1,065 persons paid admission to the five sessions at Jackson Twp. High School. As expected the championship games Saturday night had the largest number of admissions with 277.

Ohioan Has Hot Nine In Palm Springs Test

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Bob Shave Jr. of Willoughby, Ohio, posted the lowest nine-hole golf score of the year in PGA tournament play with a seven-under-par 29 in the Palm Springs Desert Classic Friday. Shave took a 39 for the other nine holes for an 18-hole total of 68 and a 54-hole score of 217, or 16 strokes behind the leader.

Tigers Fashion Late Rally But Lose to Lions, 54-53

A late Circleville rally was killed by the clock here last night as Washington C. H. held on for a spine tingling 54-53 victory.

The Tigers, faced with a 10-point deficit early in the fourth quarter, suddenly came to life with an effort that almost succeeded. The locals whittled away to cut the margin to 51-54. Dick Kline hit the last bucket of the evening with only four seconds left to leave the Blue Lions with a good as gold one-point lead.

Circleville led at one point in the second quarter, 22-19, but Washington edged into a 25-24 margin as the half ended. The Blue Lions had held a previous 12-8 advantage at the end of the first period.

CHS shot into a 28-27 lead early in the third quarter on Sam Weller's two buckets from down under, but Earl Crosswhite's two goals pushed the visitors out front again.

CIRCLEVILLE's last bid came a minute later when Cleson Thomas knotted the count at 31-31 on a hook. From then on Washington went ahead to stay.

The fourth quarter started with the Blue Lions ahead, 44-35. A little later they advanced the count to 47-37, but then the tide started to change.

Luther Johnson hit two quick buckets for Circleville and added two foul shots while Jim Wellington added a charity and Weller a bucket. However, Crosswhite kept the visitors out front with a bucket and two free throws.

Only 48 seconds remained when Kline dumped one from underneath to cut the WCH lead to 54-49. At 43 seconds Johnson popped two foul shots. Again at four seconds Kline whipped in another from below, but that ended scoring for the evening.

Johnson finished as high scorer for the Tigers with 13 points. His production included three buckets and seven out of seven foul shots.

On down the line it was Weller with 12, Kline 11 and Dade 10. Kline, coming in as a replacement for Thomas who ran into foul difficulty, provided the Tigers with some needed lift, especially in the late stages.

DAVE RENO was the biggest threat for WCH as he consistently pumped in his long jump shot to end with 19 points. Crosswhite followed close behind with 18 on five baskets and eight charities. Circleville fired only 43 times.

RECORD SERIES ROLLER—George Ramey took the bowling spotlight here this week by rolling a record 666 series at Circle D. The 31-year-old kegler smacked games of 221-221-224 for the dandy set score. He uses a fingertip ball and the three-step approach and has been bowling for only three years. (Photo by Beaver Studio)

Manhattan Relay Combine Cracks 2-Mile Indoor Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—Manhattan track coach George Eastment, never one to sound an optimistic note when he can't think of something gloomy, predicted today his two-mile relay team would break 7:30 indoors.

Now this is no mean feat. It's akin to breaking the four-minute mile on boards.

But Friday night in the Millrose games in Madison Square Garden, Eastment's quartet whipped to a 7:32.8 clocking, breaking the 19-year-old indoor record of 7:33.9 set by Seton Hall on a faster nine-lap track.

Indoor standards are not recognized by the international federation.

"I knew we could break the record," said the happy Eastment. "But believe it or not, I wasn't sure we could win the race. With Holy Cross and Villanova in it, I figured that any of the top teams might break the record."

Many coaches have said down through the years (and their predictions stood up until Friday night) that the Seton Hall record never would be broken unless some one found a nine-lap track again. The Garden's track, along with most of the standard indoor tracks in the country, measures 11 laps to mile and those extra turns can hurt a team trying for a record.

"Matter of fact," said Eastment, who helped coach the U.S. Olympic team last year, "I thought we might break it back in 1958 when Tom Murphy (a good half-miler) was anchoring the team. As it was, we couldn't do any better than 7:36.1."

Eastment kept the quartet—John Corry, Kye Courtney, Larry St. Clair and Art Evans out of the individual events to concentrate on the relay and it paid off. Corry was clocked in 1:55.1, Courtney in 1:54.2, St. Clair in 1:51.8, and Evans in 1:51.7.

Holy Cross was second, about 25 yards back, and Villanova third.

Otherwise, the best performances were turned in by 22-year-old Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan, who tied the American indoor 60-yard hurdles record in 7 seconds and Wilma Rudolph of Tennessee A&T State, the triple Olympic gold medal winner, who equalled her own women's indoor 60-yard American mark of 6.9.

Milt Campbell and Jones were the only athletes to hit 7 flat for the 60 hurdles before Friday night. So Jones became the first timber topper ever to do it twice.

Miss Rudolph set her 6.9 standard two weeks ago in Los Angeles. She tied it twice, in both the semifinals and finals.

Istvan Rozsavolgyi, running his second indoor race since stepping off the plane from Hungary less than a week ago, won the mile in 4:06, beating out Ernie Cunniff of Stanford.

John Thomas cleared 7 feet in the high jump—his 57th seven-footer—but couldn't get over 7.2.

Other winners included Jerry Siebert of California in the half-mile (1:51.9), Jim Wedderburn of New York University in the 600 (1:12.2), Henry Wadsworth of Florida in the pole vault (15.4), Frank Budd of Villanova in the 60-yard dash (6.2), Al Lawrence of Houston in the 2-mile (8:52.8) and Ralph Boston of Tennessee State in the broad jump (25.9).

Cincy Attorney Claims Insolvency

CINCINNATI (AP)—Leslie D. Sticker, 37 year old attorney charged with fraud by wire in an alleged $3.8 million fraudulent investment operation, admitted Friday that he is insolvent.

Answering the petition of three creditors that a receiver be appointed to handle his assets, however, Sticker denied owing them anything.

Laura A. Grimme, Patrick Sestito and Amelia Kovach, all of Cincinnati, claimed he owed them $18,500, $7,200 and $3,475, respectively.

Sticker also denied in his answer, filed in U. S. District Court, that he committed any act of bankruptcy, transferred property and concealed property, as claimed in the petition.

Sticker is free on $25,000 bond. His financial records are being investigated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Xavier Rescheduled For Kentucky Game

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP)—Xavier of Ohio, whose basketball game with Western Kentucky here Thursday night was called off because of bad weather, will take on the Hilltoppers next Wednesday instead. ## Minnesota's Comeback Is Voted Tops

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Is moving from last to first in the Big Ten football standings a greater comeback feat than regaining the world heavyweight boxing championship?

The nation's sports writers and broadcasters say it is on their ballots in the annual Associated Press year-end poll.

By a clear margin in the voting, the experts named Minnesota's 1960 football comeback as the greatest comeback of the year, surpassing Floyd Patterson's feat of knocking out his 1959 conqueror, Ingemar Johansson and regaining the heavyweight title.

Patterson's comeback was unique. No fighter before him ever had lost the heavyweight crown and won it back. But it's doubtful that any football team had accomplished such a complete turnaround as Minnesota's.

In 1959 the Gophers lost 7 of 9 games, winning only once in Big Ten competition. Coach Murray Warmath was hanged in effigy and old grads talked about buying up the remainder of his contract and getting a new coach.

Last season Minnesota was beaten only once in nine season games, tied Iowa for the conference title and was acclaimed as national champion in The Associated Press poll. Losing the Rose Bowl game dimmed the season's lustre only a little and Warmath was picked by his colleagues as coach of the year.

Nesting Mop

CINCINNATI (AP) — Three years ago Mrs. Maude Rankin hung up a mop on a back porch nail to dry but she never got to use it again.

A couple of robins picked the scrubbing end of the mop as a place to build a nest and raise a family. They kept coming back each year.

How does she clean her floors now?

"I get down on my hands and knees and scrub," she said. "Gets cleaner that way, anyway."

a layoff of 20,000 workers in Wisconsin plants next week. In addition, Ward's Automotive Reports said Ford will lay off 13,500 assembly line workers next week at Dearborn, Kansas City and St. Louis.

The trade paper said Ford would lay off men at engine factories in Cleveland and Lima, Ohio. However, a Ford spokesman in Cleveland said he understood a one-week layoff at Cleveland plants scheduled next week has been postponed.

In Michigan, where unemployment was estimated at 320,000 as of Jan. 15, an increase of 80,000 since a month earlier, General Motors said it would idle about 33,000 workers beginning Feb. 13. GM said it also planned layoffs of 12,000 more outside Michigan for a total of 45,000 workers laid off.

A total of 13,100 workers will be laid off at Buick assembly and the Fisher Body plants, both at Flint. Pontiac said it will lay off 12,000 men Feb. 13 at its Pontiac and Fisher Body plants in Pontiac.

GM will lay off another 8,800 at Oldsmobile in Lansing, including Fisher body, and still another 12,000 at six plants of Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac in Wilmington, Del., Atlanta, Ga., Kansas City, Mo., Arlington, Texas, Linden, N.J. and Los Angeles.

Ward's latest report showed that the car industry's inventory of unsold new cars totaled 1,025,000 as of Jan. 20. The trade paper said the industry had cut its February production plans to 400,000 cars as against the previously scheduled 454,000.

Last year in February the industry produced more than 650,000 cars. A Chrysler spokesman said Chrysler's only current layoff was at St. Louis where its plant was down in a snow storm. There will be a one-day layoff at Los Angeles next week, he said.

Ford said it will lay off 1,460 employees at its Claycomo plant in suburban Kansas City starting Monday. The plant makes Comets and Falcons.

At Gary, Ind., the Budd Co. plant, which produces Rambler bodies, announced a shutdown next week, idling 1,500 workers.

Gas Bills Higher? There's Good Reason This Winter

If your gas heating bill is up, there's good reason for it.

Customers in the 56-county area served by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. used more gas during the severe winter weather of the past two months than in any similar period of the company's history, local manager for Ohio Fuel said.

During January it was 23 per cent colder than January a year ago. As a result of the frigid weather this January Ohio Fuel delivered more than 52½ billion cubic feet of gas to its customers, setting a new monthly delivery record.

This exceeded the previous record, set a month earlier in December, 1960, when the total monthly delivery by Ohio Fuel was slightly less than 51 billion cubic feet. December, 1960, was 33½ per cent colder than December a year ago.

January was 12 per cent colder than normal, December was 16 per cent colder than normal, Catterman said.

Tax Returns Filed Rapidly In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—Apparently the people who want some money back from Uncle Sam are wasting no time in filing their income tax returns.

In any event, the district office of the Internal Revenue Service says nearly four times as many tax returns were filed last month than in January 1960.

Melvin J. Burton, district IRS director, said Friday that 271,380 taxpayers in the 47 northern Ohio counties of the district had filed returns in January. The same month last year produced only 68,396 returns.

Of those filed this year, Burton said 93,629 contained claims for refunds. Of these, 8,173 representing a total of $820,732 were processed last month and sent to the distribution center serving this area for mailing of refund checks.

Only two refund checks—totaling $949—had been mailed during January 1960. Burton attributes the sharp increase in processed refunds to two things: The increased number of returns filed during the month, kind of a speedup in processing by his office.

IRS officials said a desire to obtain refunds at the earliest possible date appeared to be the principal reason for the early flood of returns.

Burton figures the volume will increase daily from now on—and should surpass by 30,000 the total of 2,023,767 returns filed a year ago.

Mobutu Shuns Idea Advanced By U.N. Aide

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Gen. Joseph Mobutu said today Dag Hammarskjold's plan to reorganize the Congolese army and keep it out of politics really means disarming the force and "we will never allow it."

"The United Nations is playing with fire," Mobutu told a news conference. "To disarm the ANC (National Congolese Army) would mean war."

The conference was called to reply to the U.N. secretary-general's Security Council speech suggesting that the Congolese army be reorganized.

Mobutu insisted the Congolese army must stay under the control of President Joseph Kasavubu.

"All the ANC needs is money to buy planes for its paratroopers and arms for its soldiers," Mobutu said.

He complained the United Nations is "playing the game of the Asiatic countries who want to disarm Congolese troops and liberate deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba."

Mobutu blamed the arms shortage on Belgian paratroopers who had destroyed arms stocks and on the fact that the Congo is barred by U.N. resolutions from accepting unilateral military aid.

Eisenhower Books California Trip

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will make his projected vacation trip to California by train this weekend, it was announced today at his office here.

An aide said Eisenhower would motor to Harrisburg, Pa., between 5 and 6 p.m. Sunday and board a Pennsylvania Railroad train there, leaving at 2 a.m. Monday.

He will be accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower and selected members of his staff.

The Eisenhowers will vacation at the El Dorado Golf Club at Palm Desert, Calif. Earlier reports have said Eisenhower would be there about two months and there was no additional information today to indicate that these plans have been changed.

The death rate in the United States for 1960 is estimated to be 9.4 per 1,000 population, the thirteenth year in a row that it has been below 10 per 1,000.

U.S. Is Puzzled By Soviet Silence

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials were puzzled today over Moscow's failure so far to answer President Kennedy's request for postponement of the Geneva talks on the atomic test ban.

Kennedy, who wants to pause and review the disarmament scene before charting his new administration's course, asked the Soviets for a delay as one of his early official acts. He announced it at his first news conference Jan. 25.

The Geneva parley, which has been going on since November 1958, has been in recess since Dec. 5. It was scheduled to resume Feb. 7. Kennedy asked for a postponement until March 21.

The third atomic power, Britain, quickly agreed to Kennedy's request.
